

The Steamship Trade Association of Baltimore, Inc.

Friday, October 18, 2013

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE –

The Steamship Trade Association and Local 333 successfully reached agreement to immediately return all unionized employees to work at the Port of Baltimore under a 90-day cooling off agreement. The strike is at an end and the Port is re-opened for business. All labor is returning to work this evening.

The parties are making substantial progress toward a new local contract.
